FINANCIAL DISASTERS

The Two Suspended Drug Firms in the Hands of Assignees.

CONDITION OF THEIR AFFAIRS.

Mr. Dunning Still in Negotiation with the Banks.

OTHER FAILURES.

Comparative quiet yesterday succeeded the late disturbing rumors and reports of disaster flowing into Wall street from all the city's avenues of trade. There were no fresh sensations, though a few feeble efforts were made to convey the idea that new failures may large drug house and a wholesale grocery firm were mentioned as being embarrassed, but immediate contradictions were given by the persons interested.

The affairs of Edwin J. Dunning, Jr., have not been settled yet. Mr. Bell, the assignee, said yesterday afternoon that the banks were willing to extend some accommodation to Mr. Dunning, but that the merchants are now pressing for settlements. There will be another meeting to-morrow, when he hopes a settlement may be effected. Mr. Dunning's clerks were asy yesterday preparing a statement. From the that Mr. Dunning would have a considerable surplus after paying all his debts if a compromise could b Until his affairs are settled in some way uncasiness must necessarily prevail in respect to the solvency of other firms whose paper he floated.

THE HENRY FAILURE.

The wholesale establishment of Messrs. John F. Henry, Curran & Co., No. 9 College place, was not opened yesterday until near noon, at which time the embers of the firm arrived, and the clerks and emaccounts and setting things right in the store. Messrs. Henry, Curran & Bowen had been occupied during the morning in the arrangement of legal matters connected with the assignment which the firm had made to their cashier, Mr. Benjamin H. Dewey. Messra. Henry and bowen made the following statement of the situation of their house yesterday afternoon:--STATEMENT BY THE FIRM.

"By advice of counsel we made an assignment this morning in favor of Mr. Benjamin H. Dewey, our cashier. He is bustly engaged with the clerks in preparing a statement of the condition of the firm. It cannot be completed, however, until Mr. Dunning is We took this step advisedly because our Mr. Curran is a non-resident of the State, and this would allow several small who made demands on Thursday to carry out their threat that if not paid they would attach our goods. They could close our keep us from the books, and we could not get out of their power except by going into bankruptcy. say that a large number of them have called and expressed their sympathy, stating that they would give s all the time and aid we wanted. AN UNCERTAIN FUTURE.
"We cannot tell how we shall stand with Mr. Dunning until he arrives at some settlement. He has in his possession a large amount of our paper-$100,000, We had so much confidence in him that on Monday and Tuesday last we gave him $30,000 in paper, he promising to give us money for it ing the week. The check for $5,000 which he gave us on Tuesday was returned ungaid Vednesday afternoon at three o'clock, this being the first intimation we had that he was in trouble. We called in several friends, and, acting under their advice, gave orders by telegraph and mail to stop buycoming in subject to the orders of the parties from whom they came. plant the reply was:—
"rupn round there and see for yourself the long line of employes who are being paid at the cashier's desk, as usual. We shall not owe any of our hands a uchar. We have now employed some seventy employees of one kind or another, the employment of whom our assignee will have to decide upon next Mendax."

Referring to certain remarks of Messrs. Robbins, of the firm of McKesson & Robbins, and Demas Barnes, published in yesterday's Herald, the statement of Mr. Bowen was:—"We have received the sympathy of a large portion of the trace in this and other large cities throughout the country. We certainly did not think that rival houses within a few streets would lower themselves to make statements which they dared not make under their own names, and which the reporters have not time to substantiate. One of the reporters have not time to substantiate. One of the reporters to-any said that Mr. Barnes had stated to nim that we had brited the commercial agencies to give us a better standing on their books than we had deserved; all of which reports are untrue, and injurious hot only to us but also to the three great agencies of the country."

deserved; all of which reports are untrue, and injurious hot only to us but also to the three great agencies of the country."

IN STREETHLER PRONISE.

It is true that Mr. Dunning promised us $15,000 on Wednesday. Mr. Heary went to him to get it, and waited two hours, the clerks saying that Dunning would be in every minute. At hall-past two o'clock, Mr. Henry was told that Mr. Dunning had suspended. His absence, we afterward learned, was owing to his being closeted with the directors of banks with whom he had large negotiations. He followed their advice and made an assignment, hoping thereby to be able to effect some settlement, which he trusted could be done in twenty-tour hours, and which, if effected, might have stopped all subsequent trouble. We have known Mr. Dunning over a year, and believe him to be housest and desirous of doing everything he can to settle his troubles in a way that will be satisfactory to all perries."

"What about Mr. Dunning's statement to the effect that all your paper in his hands belonged to him—that he had purchased it?"

"His statement must have been misunderstood. There is $100,000, more or less, in his hands that he has not paid us for."

"Some of the papers stated that your firm have a secret understanding with Mr. Dunning."

"We emphatically deny any such institucion."

Mr. Bowkes's Refinate.

The suspended firm had ousness relations with a large number of houses all over the Union. Mr. Bowen states that he does not think the habitites will exceed $500,000; and believes that if the house be allowed to go on it can pay dollar ler dollar.

Mr. Dunning, when questioned yesterday about the discrepancy between his statement and that of the house of Henry, was very reserved; he would only admit that affairs were in so confused a condition at the time that he could afford no positive information. He hoped that pending negotiations would result in enabling him to resume outsiness.

The rumors which had been promulgated on Friday, to the effect that the old established drug house of Hegeman & Co. had gone down in the crash which swept away the firm of John F. Henry, Curran & Co. and Edwin J. Dunning, Jr., the broker, yesterday assumed definite shape when it was formally announced that the firm had made an assignment to Mr. W. J. A. Fuller, of Abbot & Futter, lawyers, No. 229 Broadway, for the benefit creditors. The assignment to Mr. Fuller was made late on Friday night at Mr. Hegeman's knowledged before a commissioner for New York residing there. The witnesses to the assignment were ex-Governor Reuben E. Fenton, who is Mr. Hegeman's father-in-law and is now on a visit to his daughter, and Mr. Chauncey M. Depew. The proceedings were periected in great haste, all the parties to them having been summoned to Mountain Station by telegrams from Mr. Hegeman. The object of this haste, as Mr. Fuller stated last evening to a reporter of the HERALD, was to prevent the execution of any attachments which might be issued against Mr. Hegeman on the ground of his non-residence in this city. Early yesterday morning Mr. Fuller filed the assignment in the Court of Common Picas, and then took possession of the store No. 203 Broadway and its contents. He gavest into the charge of Mr. John F. Haker, book-keeper of the firm of Hegeman & Co., with instructions to make an inventory of the stock as soon as possible, as well as to make out a statement of the assets and liabilities. He biso ordered the store to be deced until such time as he cound find a tenant for it and have an inventory of the stock made.

not be executed owing to the fact that the assignee's title had been perfected and he had consequently a prior right over all attaching creditors. The beavier creators of the bank rupt house uid not apply for any executions. Mr. Regeman's creators are mainly in his own family circle. It would appear that the crash had been expected for some time, but despite the discouraging aspect of his affairs Mr. Regeman's relatives stood by him through all, and although urgently pressed by their counsel to protect themselves they one and all refused to obtain or receive any preference, and expressed themselves as perfectly contented to take their chances with the general creditors.

Co.," be said, "was precipitated by the combined failures of John F. Henry, Curran & Co. and Duming, the note broker. Mr. Hegeman has been confined to his house at Mountain Station, N. J., for the past two or three weeks with a severe attack of full minimatory rheumatism. His enforced absence from business made it impossible for the persons left in charge of his store to take up the notes which had been placed with Curran and Dunning, and it confequently became a matter of imperative necessity for Mr. Hegeman to make an assignment. From the nature of the stock, it will be some two or three weeks before I can make out a statement of the assets and limitatives for the creditors. In the opinion of Mr. Baker, who is now in charge of the store, the stock, as it Stanks, is worth from $15,000 to $20,000. The store belongs to the estate of the interform the president of the Chemical Bank, and it can be rented at a low figure and with the consent of Mr. Jones' executors, I shall probably respen it with a view to disposing of the stock.

"It is impossible for me to state now with any degree of accuracy the amount of the assets and liabilities. The latter, however, are very large, although in these days of Indures of millionnaires, as everything goes by relation and comparison, they might be considered small. I shall also be delayed very materially in making my statement by Mr. Hegeman's calorced absonce."

The Firm OF HEGEMAN & CO.

The firm of Hegeman & CO. was one of the oldest established drug nouses in the country, having been in existence for nearly balf a century. Mr. William H. Hegeman its founder, was a man of large means, a promident citizen and a member of the Century, Union Learne and other clubs. About two years ago, white spending an evening in the partors of the Century Cath, he was stricken with paralysis and tied in the evert House, whiter he had been borne. His son, J. Nevin Hegeman, continued the bushess under the firm name of thegeman & Co., although he had no partner. At one time Mr. Hegeman owned six large retail drug stores in the city, which were very profitable up to the panic of 1873. During the past year or two, though, his son has been abliged to give up all except the one at No. 203 Broadway. In this establishment he conducted a wholesale and retail business. He is said to have never entered into any speculations or outside enterprises, but to have confined himself strictly to has legithmate business. It was stated, however, that, in common with many other business men, he had suffered from the general depression in business and shrinkage of values for some time prior to his suspension.

THE CUTTER SWINDLE.

There were many rumors in Wall and Pearl streets yesterday that H. M. Cutter, the runaway and defaulting cotton broker, had been arrested, but those the stories was to the effect that Dotective Woolsey. of the Cotton Exchange, had sent a messenger to remediately to the Tombs; that he did so, but did not see Cutter, although it was believed that the delinquent broker was either under the surveillance of the law efficers or actually within their control. It as said that Cutter in making purchases of cotton acted in the shrewdest manner, buying so closely and ig as percusarios. OTHER BUSINESS TROUBLES.

The failure of Flanigan & Co., large retail dry goods dealers at No. 629 Eighth avenue, was announced yesterday morning, and later in the day the members of the firm made an assignment for the beneat of their creditors to William H. Owen, with the amount to between $70,000 and $80,000, distributed among the principal dry goods jobbers in this city, and also in Boston and Philadolphia. Their failure did not cause much surprise, as it had been expected for over a week past on account of litigation. Loop & Schoendeid, of Philadolphia, creditors of the first recently obtained judgment for $1,500 and the execution was issued, but Messrs. Foster & Adams, counsel for Flangan & Co., had the judgment reversed, showing that it had been taken by mistake. When the creditors beard that the judgment had been obtained they immediately commenced suit against the firm, and between twenty and thirty actions were institued. They came in so fast that the firm deemed it best to make an assignment. Suit has been commenced against the Philadelphia firm for $20,000 damages by counsel for Flangan & Co. The exact value of the assets is not known. The actual cost of the stock in their store was $35,000 and the nominal value of the book account is $5,000, but they are deemed worthless. amount to between $70,000 and $80,000 distributed Dealers in boots and snoes on Third avenue have suffered greatly recently, but the failure of M. Forster, at No. 350 Taird avenue, one of the largest store, mas occasioned considerable surprise. The habilities amount to $15,000; the nominal insects are $5,000 and the real assets are valued at $4,000.

The committee of New York creditors of Talle, Holton & Co., wholesale dry goods dealers in Clacinnal, have agreed upon a settlement with the dectors at thirty-five cents on the dollar, to be satisfactorily secured. Since the arrangement was made, however, the water pipes in the store have burst, doing considerable damage to the stock, but whether the damage is sufficient to interfere with the settlement is not definitely known.

John W. Kettleman, butcher in Washington Market and at Long Branch, has filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy before Register Lattle. His habilities amount to $12,700, distributed among a large number of creditors, of which the following have the largest claims:—John McMurdie, $2,000; W. R. Patton, $1,193 44; George Hand, $1,110; Moses Strauss, $1,087 23. His assets consist of real extain at Long Branch, valued at $14,000, subject to a mortgage of $10,000, and stock in trade, wagons, horses, &c., valued at $1,300.

The assignee of Jetta Haas, dealer in dry goods, reports the habilities to be $11,443, while the actual value of the assets is only $801 76.

Hyman M. Rosenthal, suits, of No. 244 Bowery, has failed, with liabilities amounting to about $10,000. His assets are worth about $2,500, nearry all of which is in stock. He is endeavoring to obtain a settlement at twenty cents on the doilar, which a number of his creditors have accepted.

There were filed in the County Clerk's office yesterday the assignments of Johnston N. Hyeman, i. advidanly and at sole surviving partner of Hyeman & Co., to William J. A. Fuller; Daniel M. and John M. Flanagan to Writhm H. Ourn, John F. Henry, Theodore Curran and Henry E. Bowen, comprising the firm of Curran & Co.; Benjamin H. Dewey, Alian Conway to William S. Officers Hogan, Van Horn and McCort yesterday boarded the steamship City of New York, and, stowed away in remote corners of the vessel, brought forth 1,100 first class cigars which were intended to amugled ashore. On board of the steamer Columbus these officers found concealed 4,000 choice cigars, some of them Reina Victorias, of which 1,900 were stowed away in the flues of the smokestack, where the inspectors discovered them, covered with dust and cinders.

pital from "Bright's disease," yesterday, a weman named Mary O'Keefe. She was known to the criminal authorities of this city and Brooklyn for years by the alias of "Sergeant Mary." She has had quite to her jailers and while on the Island. She said that when quite young she formed the acquaintance of young man to whom sho was engaged to be married.
The day for the wedding was set, but before the happy event her lover was arrested for highway robbery, tound guilty and sentenced to imprisonment for a term of twenty years. This so affected her that she resolved to reyears. This so affected her that she resolved to remain single. Some time afterward she became intimate with another young woman who had likewise met with many crosses in love and had similarly resolved. Becoming intimate, they determined to live together ever siter, and agreed that one should put on man's apparel and that they should five as man and wite in another part of the city where they were not known. They drew lots, and by it Mary was made the man. She found male attire and assumed a new name. For several years these women passed as man and wife, and would postibly have done so until Mary's death but for an unforeseen accident. While on the street one day she mad a former friend who recognized her and threatened to expose her if she did not return home. Mary told her companion of the discovery and they agreed to part.

Mary told her companion of the discovery and they agreed to part.

EARY JOINS THE ARRY.

She returned to her home, where she lived for a short time, but as her parents used to taunt her she again left nome and took to drinking. During the late war she formed the acquaintance of a soldier and set him drunk, after which she stole his money and uniform, she soon spent it and then went to one of the military stations, where she enlisted in a company of volunteers which was then being formed. Mary remained a soldier for some weeks; but one night she got beastly drunk and was arrested by the guard. Walle in her drunken supports told her secret. The captain of the guard was called; she was arraigned before him, and, on being closely questioned, admitted that what she said while drunk was true. Thereupon she was dismissed from the ranks, not, however, before she had been given the sobriquet of Sergeant Mary.

On her return to this city she remained a studiaria and was arrested time after time. Becoming old she obtained a menial position on Blackweil's Island, which, of late years, she has held. A tew weeks ago she got suck and was taken to Bellevue Hospital, where she died. Her body was removed to the Morgue and thence it will be buried in a pauper's grave.

ARSON AND ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.

John Garvey, who was arrested on Friday afternoon for setting fire to Furnival's bagging factory in Water street, Brooklyn, made several desperate attempts himself. His hands were floady handouffed behind his back, and remained in that position until morning. He was float taken before Judge Waish, where a charge of areon was preferred against him by Thomas A. Rees, superintendent of the factory. Jennie Van Brunt, who was arrested for drunkenness, stated in the court that she heard Garvey say he would burn the factory. Judge Walsh set down the examination of the case for Tuesday next, and committed the prisoner to Raymond Street Jail until that time.

SATURDAY, Jan. 12-6 P. M.

There is positively nothing to say of the stock market to-day beyond remarking that it was "weary, stale, flat and unprofitable" beyond measure. Such activity as existed grew out of the snarl and wrangle of the Morgan and Keene factions over the bone of speculation as they essayed to strip away the few integuments left to it. How fractional was the amount of pabulum thus obtained is best learned from the meagre list of transactions and the sparse; ness of fluctuations. These latter were confined to per cent, except in the case of the coal stocks, which Shore, which persistently occupies the position of Pontifex Maximus, the coal carriers string out (to retain the simile) as so many bishops, priests and deacons, lording it over the lay and languid stocks and attracting the main share of attention. To-day they proved to be spasmodically weak and strong as opinions differed about the probability of a to the effect that matters would be satisfactorily arranged, gave considerable encouragement to buyers a device borrowed from the country boys, who, in passing through a churchyard, whistle to keep their courage up. For some reason or other the market did not respond favorably to the foreign news, which certainly augured anything but a speedy termination to the state of war. The significant decline in con-sols, the reported bid on the part of Russia for a loan of $50,000,000 and the practical rejection by the same Power of the Porte's terms for an armistice, would usually have been thought sufficient reasons for advancing the prices of the grain carrying roads at least. No such effect was, however, obtained, and prices remained dull and inactive and quite insensible to circumstances which hitnerto have been deemed important factors in an advance movement.
